RARDIN SPEAKS TO THOUSANDS OF HIS GLADES FRIENDS

Dear Friends:

Your hundreds of telephone calls seeking information in regard to the county commission race in Palm Beach county are sincerely appreciated. The terms are for four years and I was re-elected in 1952 for four years—therefore I am not a candidate in this year's primary. I represent Dist. 5 on the county board.

A recent supreme court decision makes it mandatory that ALL county commission candidates run county-wide. However, they must live in the district they seek to represent on the board.

This year there are two contests for places on the board. In Dist. 2, Commission Chairman Lake Lytal of West Palm Beach is opposed by Arthur Hamilton of that city. In Dist. 4, Commission Member Ben F. Sundry of Delray Beach is opposed by Lloyd Benson of that city.

These contests for places, on the board are Democratic contests and all Democratic voters in the county, properly registered, are eligible to vote for their choice.

Sincerely yours,
—PAUL RARDIN

250 Names Added To Glades Vote List

Registration books brought to the Glades area of Palm Beach County at the request of County Commissioner Paul Rardin have been closed according to law and compilation shows that 250 new voters were added during the days the books were open.

Much controversy centered around the bringing of the books to the Glades but Commissioner Rardin won his argument with Supervisor of Registration DeWitt Upthegrove in West Palm Beach and the books were finally opened for the Glades area residents at the Pahokee city hall and the Belle Glade chamber of commerce.

In Pahokee, where Mrs. Dorothy Graham handled the registration, there were 150 voters placed on the list. In Belle Glade at the chamber of commerce, where Mrs. George Young handled the registration, 100 new voters were registered.

Locating the books in the Glades saved these 250 people the drive of 80 miles to and from West Palm Beach to get their names on the qualified list. In commenting upon the large number thus registered Commissioner Rardin said: "I am happy that 250 people took advantage of the fact that I had the books brought to the Glades. I knew they were busy with their crops at this time of year and didn't have time to drive the 80 miles to and from the court house."

Gov. Johns Pleased With Co. Reception

"I am personally gratified with the very wonderful welcome the people of Palm Beach County gave me during my official visit," Acting Gov. Charley E. Johns said Monday at the end of his county tour.

Gov. Johns ended his campaign tour with a promise to county residents to continue his aggressive program for road building, support of the aged and needy, water control and a clean administration.

Highlights of his tour here included a motorcade with more than 100 cars participating, visits and addresses to various county communities, including Canal Point, Pahokee, Belle Glade, Loxahatchee, Boca Raton, Delray Beach, Boynton Beach, Lantana, Lake Worth, Riviera Beach and West Palm Beach.

An impressive motorcade, including decorated cars with escort, featured the day-long tour.

Special attraction for the governor was the visit by students of the Boca Raton Elementary School who beseiged him for nearly an hour, seeking and receiving autographs. (continued on page 8)

Cinematic Chatter

By Malcolm Millar

Hello everybody! Dale Robertson, young screen sensation from Oklahoma, credits the late Will Rogers for his success in Hollywood. "If Will hadn't told me that I had the makings of a star, I'd have given up long ago . . . that is, before I got my first break," draws the Oklahoma. I packed into Hollywood 10 times to crash the movies, and batted out nine times. I kept at it because I had the same faith in Will Rogers that I had in me," as Will Rogers, he told her, "don't let him take a dramatic lesson." The drama coaches will put your voice in a dinner jacket, and most people like their grits and hominy in every day clothes." Robertson spent three heart-breaking years in Hollywood after the war, in which he served as a first lieutenant in General George Patton's Third Army during its march across Europe. "I tried everything, but the studios wouldn't give me a tumble. I was about to give up, when an agent friend landed me the part of Jesse James in "Men Of The Plains." From then on I started to the top. You know the rest of my story. But I am mighty grateful to Will Rogers and his advice and help." See you at the movies—Mal.

Mrs. Lloyd Hundley entertained at her home, 242 Bacon Point Road, on Wednesday afternoon with an outdoor party, featuring a baseball game and a wiener roast, for her son, John Lloyd, on his tenth birthday anniversary. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by the hostess to the group of boys who were guests.

So They Stopped Baiting Each Other

If you want to hear a real hassle, listen to Cob James and Whitey Baker on trout fishing sometime. You'd think it was more important than anything.

Cob favors dry flies. Whitey pooh-poohs anything but wet flies. Cob swears by a Fan-Wing Royal Coachman; Whitey won't hear of anything but Silver Doctor. And so it goes—they can't even get together on steel rods versus bamboo rods.

But on Saturday, each got back from Fox Creek with a catch that couldn't have differed by more than a couple of ounces! Then over a friendly glass of beer, they allowed as how maybe they were both right . . . which is how so many arguments should end.

From where I sit, life would be a whole lot pleasanter if we all respected one another's opinions—whether about trout flies, or having a glass of beer, or voting. After all, a person has a right to follow his own line of thinking.

Farmers Live With The Good Earth, Are Close To God

CLEWISTON — "Farming is a profession of which to be proud," said Harry T. Vaughn, executive vice president and general manager of the United States Sugar Corporation, speaking at the annual Parent and Son banquet of the Clewiston Future Farmers of America chapter.

"Farmers live with and by the good earth, and are close to God," continued the speaker, who added: "I have never heard of a farmer who was an atheist, nor have I ever heard of one being a Communist."

Vaughn urged the FFA boys to remember that nothing worthwhile is accomplished without hard work.

but that opportunities are greater today than ever before. He warned of the growing tendency of some people to exert as little effort as possible and depend on the government to take care of them.

"The only way to obtain security is to provide it yourself," declared the speaker. "Theories of collectivism, socialism and letting the government take care of you are dangerous. Remember your government is you and I, and it has nothing to give except what you and I give it; so it follows that it has nothing to give until you and I have first given it something."

Vaughn and R. R. Hooks were awarded the Honorary Chapter Farmer Degrees in recognition of their outstanding services and assistance to the Clewiston chapter during the past year. The degrees were conferred by the FFA chapter officers.

One hundred and twenty-five persons were served at the dinner by girls of the home economics classes of Clewiston high school. Officers of the Clewiston chapter of FFA include: Eddie Swindle, president; Sammy Griffin, vice president; Bobby Swindle, sentinel and R. L. Pape, advisor.

A 15-pound black bass—the envy of every Florida sweet water angler—was entered in the new, statewide, year-round Ruby Schaefer Fishing Contest by Wesley Colley of Lutz, who fished in Lake Hiawatha, using a shiner to make his outstanding catch.

Here Is What Transpired At Monday's Meeting Of The Palm Beach County Commission

Proposed organization of a Palm Beach County Traffic Association to work on equalization of freight rates for the county was under consideration by a commission committee this week.

The organization, if formed, will be patterned after similar rate study groups now operating in Dade County and Hillsboro County.

Named to a committee to meet with county business representatives to discuss plans for the association are County Commissioners Kenneth Foster and Roy Michael and County Attorney Harry Johnston. The group is scheduled to report its findings at the next commission meeting.

The committee was also instructed to explore a proposal made by R. H. Brown, rate expert, who suggested that the county commission institute a petition with the ICC in an attempt to gain better freight rates between this area and mid-western manufacturers who are now shipping by air from Tampa. Brown said considerable merchandise is being transported by rail from Tampa, where an attractive freight rate has been worked out, and is then shipped to Cuba by air transport. Brown told the commission that he believed some of this business could be delivered to this area.

credit for it, as if it were he instead of the taxpayers who was providing it, and in which he hinted that they could expect another raise if he were returned to office—blatant campaign propaganda. Johns obviously can't grasp the point of ethics Collins raised.

But to get right down to the matter of "humanitarian" government on which Johns presumes to stake out an exclusive claim, Collins' record during the 20-year span of his distinguished career in the House and Senate makes Johns' look silly. Here are some of the "humanitarian" measures which Collins sponsored during this career—not just voting for, but taking a leading part in putting through: the 1947 which has raised the whole level of public school education in this state, including teachers' salaries (and which Johns, by the way, voted against); the civil service system for public employees enacted in 1937 and the state employees' retirement fund passed the same year; the first old age assistance program in 1935; the $500 tax exemptions for widows with dependents and disabled veterans; measures to protect adopted children; authorization for welfare recipients to raise their own families; the last year provided financial aid to those totally disabled by long day laborers into the state retirement system; the 1935 measure that gave women equal property rights with men; and the "humanitarian" Klan bill of 1951 which included Collins' anti-Klan bill of 1951 outlawing the wearing of masks and burning of crosses—which Johns also voted against.

When it comes to handing out pay raises at election time, Johns is "humanitarian" all right. But when he claims a monopoly on a "humanitarian" philosophy of government as he did at Jacksonville, he looks downright ridiculous alongside Leroy Collins and his solid record of achievements.

A REAL HUMANITARIAN

Leroy Collins can give Charley Johns cards and spades at this "poor folks" business and beat him seven ways to breakfast, although Collins hasn't been pitching his campaign on the demagogic level that Johns has adopted.

Now that Johns has "officially" opened the campaign for governor which he actually launched the day he took over from Dan McCarty, he is making much of his humble background as a "poor boy" and railroad conductor before he got himself well fixed in the insurance business. This, says he, causes his heart to bleed for the poor folks and moves him to espouse a "humanitarian" program of government—which, he claims, distinguishes him from his opponents.

Well, Collins was every bit as poor a "poor boy" as Johns ever was, and he has risen a good bit higher than Johns did. When Collins graduated from high school, he got a job as a grocery clerk. He got a job as a bank teller. That was another poorly paid job but he saved enough at that to go to Cumberland University and earn a law degree. He started practice in Tallahassee at the depth of the depression and at one time eked out his meager income with part-time WPA employment as an indexer. Collins knows as well as Johns what it is to be poor, if that's a qualification for governor.

Speaking at Jacksonville Tuesday night, Johns gave this illustration of how his "humanitarian" philosophy supported by distinguishing him from Collins: "For example, one of my opponents criticized me because I gave small pay raises to the lowest paid workers for the road department—men who were trying to support their families on $150 a month." Now the truth is that Collins never criticized the granting of this pay raise. What Collins did criticize was the sending of a letter over Johns' signature to the state workers who got this pay increase in which Johns took personal

Those Seeking County Commission Jobs Must Be Voted On County-Wide

A recent Supreme Court ruling which threw the county commission race into a county-wide contest, is causing considerable confusion among voters, who for years have balloted for commission representatives by district. Palm Beach County has been divided into five districts and the election of commissioners from these five areas has been on a district basis. The same procedure was followed in many other counties in the state.

A recent action which was brought in Escambia County courts and was later carried to the state supreme court, is responsible for the county-wide balloting on which the coming primary election will be carried out. The state's high court ruled that Florida's constitution provides that primary nominations for county commission shall be carried out on a county-wide basis.

The only district provision which remains in the election laws, is that a candidate must qualify from the district which he seeks to represent. This means Palm Beach County Commission candidates will continue to qualify from the five districts, but every voter in the county will get an opportunity to ballot for each of the five candidates.

In the commission race this year, the primary ballot shows that two nomination races are at stake—nomination for commissioner from District Two and District Four. Democratic voters throughout the county will have an opportunity to cast their ballots for two of four candidates who are seeking the two nominations.

Seeking election in District Two is Arthur Hamilton, Jr., who is seeking the post now held by County Commissioner Chairman Lake Lytal. In District Four, Lloyd Benson is seeking the post now held by County Commission Vice Chairman Ben Sundy of Delray Beach.

Most Voters, election officials say, don't realize that they, now have the opportunity to vote for all commission candidates instead of voting for the candidate in the district in which they live.

The present county commission election set-up whereby all voters get a chance to cast their ballot for the commission, is similar to election set-ups in most cities, where city commission candidates must qualify from the borough in which they live but must run on a city-wide basis. With the present change in election customs, county voters who reside in districts one, three and five, will have a chance this year to cast ballots for commission candidates from districts two and four.

Christian Science Group Of Canal Point

That unwavering obedience to the eternal demands of Christ is the only way to individual salvation and progress will be brought out at Christian Science services this Sunday.

"The Lesson - Sermon entitled "Probation after Death" includes the following passage from the Bible:

"Wherefore, my beloved, as ye have always obeyed, not a sin my presence only, but now much more in my absence, work out your own salvation with fear and trembling" (Philippians 2:12).

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following passage will be read:

"Vibrating like a pendulum between sin and the hope of forgiveness, — selfishness and sensuality causing constant retrogression, — our moral progress will be slow. Waking to Christ's demand, mortals experience suffering. This causes them, even as drowning men, to make vigorous efforts to save themselves; and through Christ's precious love these efforts are crowned with success" (22:3).

"The Golden Text is from Psalms: "Examine me, O Lord, and prove me; try my reins and my heart" (26:2).

Circles Make Plans For Future Work

The Hibiscus and Gardenia Circles of the Pahokee-Canal Point Garden Club met jointly at the home of Mrs. Frank Friend on Bacom Point Road Tuesday morning to hear a lecture on "Orchid Culture for Amateurs" by Leue Carter, clerk of the criminal court, West Palm Beach.

At the business session, with Mrs. Claude L. Shirley, retiring president, presiding, Mrs. Shirley and Mrs. Hillier gave reports on the state convention and flower show of the Florida Federation of Garden Clubs which they attended in Orlando, March 30-April 1.

Plans were made for a field day on March 13, when club members will visit Highlands Hammock Park near Sebring.

It was announced the annual installation luncheon for the induction of newly elected club and circle officers will be held at the Community Park building in Canal Point on May 25. The club's annual membership drive will also be conducted at that time with prospective new club members to be guests at the luncheon.

A contribution of $12.50 was voted to the State Federation of Garden Club to go into the fund the federation is raising to underwrite $5,000 toward the purchase of 160 acres in Collier County for use as a bird sanctuary.

In response to a request from the Everglades Memorial Hospital auxiliary, the group voted to decorate the tables for the pancake supper which the auxiliary is sponsoring in the school cafeteria the evening of April 24.

Mrs. Lloyd Hundley of the Hibiscus Circle reported the circle is making progress on its project of building a slat house at Pioneer Park for the propagation of cuttings and plants to be used in beautification programs throughout the community. Circle members were asked to report to Pioneer Park Saturday morning, April 24, for a work day at the slat house.
